MGT 650 Marking Criteria for individual assignment:

	<40% (Hard Fail)	40-49% (Soft Fail)	50-59% (Pass)	60-69% (Merit)	70-79% (Distinction)	80%+ (Distinction+)
Ability to identify key theories and concepts in the subject field	Does not identify key theories and concepts appropriate to the subject field and context	Limited ability to identify key theories and concepts in the subject field. May include inaccuracy, generality or irrelevance	Satisfactory ability to identify relevant key theories and concepts in subject field and is able to make reference to work and/or current developments. May be unspecific or lacking in detail.	Good ability to identify key theories and concepts in the subject field and is able to select examples from both key work and current developments in the area with appropriate knowledge and understanding	Excellent ability to identify key theories and concepts in the subject field, both in key work and current developments. Demonstrates high level understanding of how these have developed and are classified.	Exemplary ability to identify key theories and concepts in the subject field, both in key work and current developments, across a range and breadth of the literature. Demonstrates high level understanding of how these have developed, been classified, relate and may be extended.
Ability to describe key theories and concepts in the subject field	No ability to describe key concepts and theories in the subject field as they are not understood. Descriptions are general/ irrelevant/ inaccurate. There is no meaningful engagement with the	Limited ability to describe key concepts and theories in the subject field. Comments may be partial or inaccurate, drawing from limited literature in the field.	Satisfactory ability to accurately describe the key concepts and theories in the subject field, drawing from some relevant literature in the field.	Good ability to accurately describe key concepts and theories in the subject field and is able to evaluate them in the context of the relevant literature.	Excellent evaluation and critical description of key concepts and theories in the subject field drawing from relevant literature demonstrating awareness of the different scholarly	Exemplary evaluation characterised by deep, broad and analytical description of knowledge about key concepts and theories in the subject field is evident, drawing from relevant literature and different scholarly literature in the field.				debates in the field.	debates in the field.

	<40% (Hard Fail)	40-49% (Soft Fail)	50-59% (Pass)	60-69% (Merit)	70-79% (Distinction)	80%+ (Distinction+)
Ability to use relevant sources of evidence to support their analysis	Relevant sources not identified or used in a meaningful way.	Limited ability to use relevant evidence. Management practice is predominantly described and/or analytical statements are unsupported / assertion. .	Satisfactory ability to analyse relevant Management practice with some support from relevant evidence. At this level there may still be some descriptive passages.	Good analysis of management practice is supported by the selection of relevant sources of evidence. Some comments may demonstrate insights into the limitations of the evidence	Excellent critical analysis of management practice with strong evidence in support. Demonstrates recognition of complexities and provides insights into limitations of the evidence.	Exemplary critical analysis of management practice with excellent evidence in support. Demonstrates recognition of complexities, provides insights into limitations of the evidence and is able to propose ways forward.
Ability to use academic theories to support the argument presented	No ability to use relevant theories and concepts in the subject field for identifying or evaluating problems as research questions. Comments may be general and irrelevant.	Limited ability to use relevant theories and concepts in the subject field for identifying and evaluating problems as research questions. Comments will tend to be partial/ unsupported/ limited/incorrect.	Satisfactory ability to use relevant theories and concepts in the subject field for identifying and evaluating problems as research questions. Evaluative comments may be valid but undeveloped.	Good use of theories and concepts in the subject field for evaluating the problems as research questions.	Excellent range of theories and concepts in the subject field used for excellent critical evaluation of the problems as research questions.	A wide range of theories and concepts in the subject field used for exemplary critical evaluation of problems and issues to reframe it in a novel way as research questions.
Ability to recognise debate	No ability to recognise debate	Limited ability to recognise debate	Satisfactory recognition of relevant theoretical	Good active and critical engagement	Excellent active and critically engaged debates using	Exemplary active and critically engaged debates using relevant

	<40% (Hard Fail)	40-49% (Soft Fail)	50-59% (Pass)	60-69% (Merit)	70-79% (Distinction)	80%+ (Distinction+)
between relevant theoretical concepts	between relevant theoretical concepts with only vague/ general/ irrelevant comments made.	between relevant theoretical concepts. Comments may be partial and/or descriptive and/or contain inaccuracies.	concepts and demonstrates awareness of the debates between them. Comments may lack depth and breadth and there may still be some descriptive passages.	in debates around/between relevant theoretical concepts demonstrating understanding and contextually appropriate application.	relevant theoretical concepts and demonstrating understanding and contextually appropriate application. Provides creative synthesis where appropriate.	often cutting-edge theoretical concepts and demonstrating understanding and contextually appropriate application. Provides creative synthesis or extension of theory where appropriate.
Ability to make evidence-based recommendations	Recommendations are vague/ irrelevant/ general/unconnected to main body of the work	Limited recommendations will demonstrate some grasp of the problem but will be unsupported/ assertive.	Satisfactory recommendations will draw on relevant evidence but will be undeveloped or lacking recognition of the wider context.	Good recommendations will be based on relevant evidence and be well-supported, demonstrating understanding of the wider context.	Excellent well-supported recommendations will be based on well-selected evidence, demonstrating an understanding of the complexity of the wider context.	Outstanding capability to provide evidence-based, innovative recommendations relevant for complex / wider contexts, considering the consequences and possible impact.
Ability to formulate recommendations which address managerial challenges in relation to social responsibility	Recommendations presented are vague/ general/ irrelevant in relation to managerial challenges and social responsibility	Limited recommendations to address managerial challenges are formulated with only brief links to social responsibility. Comments tend to	Satisfactory recommendations are formulated to address some managerial challenges in relation to social responsibility, with support. These may be undeveloped and lack	Good recommendations which address an appropriate range of managerial challenges are formulated in relation to social	Excellent formulation of recommendations that are clear, well-supported, address a broad range of managerial challenges and are formulated in	Exemplary formulation of recommendations that are clear, well-supported and innovative. They address a broad range of managerial challenges formulated in

	<40% (Hard Fail)	40-49% (Soft Fail)	50-59% (Pass)	60-69% (Merit)	70-79% (Distinction)	80%+ (Distinction+)
		be partial/ assertive.	context.	responsibility. These are well supported and put into the relevant context.	relation to social responsibility. These demonstrate a clear understanding of the complexity of the wider context.	relation to social responsibility. These demonstrate a clear understanding of the complexity of responsibility demonstrating an outstanding level of competence.
Ability to communicate, format and edit in an appropriate professional way	No ability to communicate in an appropriate and professional way. Writing lacks clarity and contains many errors (eg in spelling/punctuation/ grammar) demonstrating a limited awareness of the nature of appropriate, professional communication.	Limited ability to communicate in an appropriate, professional way. Writing demonstrates limited organisational skills and contains frequent errors, eg in spelling, grammar, punctuation or sentence construction.	Satisfactory ability to communicate in an appropriate, professional way. Writing demonstrates an awareness of the nature of appropriate, professional communication for this purpose but contains some errors for eg in spelling, grammar, punctuation, sentence construction, which limits its clarity	Good ability to communicate in a n appropriate, professional way. Written communication is clear and allows arguments/ purpose to be understood. Can still contain occasional errors but these do not hinder understanding.	Excellent appropriate and professional communication which allows arguments/purpose to be clearly understood.	Exemplary appropriate, professional and engaging writing which conveys complexity clearly.
Ability to format and edit in an appropriate	No ability to follow requested formatting	Limited ability to professionally format and edit work. Has	Satisfactory ability to professionally format, edit and reference	Good formatting and referencing that consistently follow	Excellence in terms of highly professional formatting,	Exemplary professional formatting, presentation and editing, with professional way	or referencing style	many errors in formatting and/or referencing is inaccurate or incomplete.	consistently following requested style. There may still be occasional errors.	requested style. Professional editing demonstrated by consistent good practice.	presentation and editing, with very well curated content, creative use of visual aids and precise referencing.	expertly curated content, creative use of visual aids and excellent referencing.

	<40% (Hard Fail)	40-49% (Soft Fail)	50-59% (Pass)	60-69% (Merit)	70-79% (Distinction)	80%+ (Distinction+)